

Greening the Curriculum – Links

Below are listed a few of the many resources available online:

Educating for Sustainability Webinar Series - 2015

Higher education is in a unique position to lead the transition to a sustainable world. Colleges and universities have the means to influence students by providing these individuals - tomorrow's architects, engineers, business leaders, scientists, cultural and spiritual leaders, teachers, journalists, and politicians – the necessary skills to shape existing communities into sustainable societies.

<http://www.aashe.org/events/webinars/2015/Educating-For-Sustainability>

Sustainability in Higher Education: Stories and Strategies for Transformation (Urban and Industrial Environments)

Paperback – August 16, 2013

by Peggy F. Barlett (Editor), Geoffrey W. Chase (Editor)

ISBN-10: 0262519658

ISBN-13: 978-0262519656

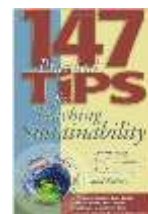

147 Tips for Teaching Sustainability: Connecting the Environment, the Economy, and Society

Paperback – March 31, 2006

by William M. Timpson (Author), Brian Dunbar (Author), Gailmarie Kimmel (Author), & 3 more

ISBN-10: 1891859609

ISBN-13: 978-1891859601

Higher Education for Sustainability: Cases, Challenges, and Opportunities from Across the Curriculum

Paperback – July 27, 2012

by Lucas F. Johnston (Editor)

Be the first to review this item

ISBN-13: 978-0415519366 ISBN-10: 0415519365 Edition: 1st

Piedmont Project - Emory Sustainability Initiative

<http://sustainability.emory.edu/page/1021/Faculty-Profiles-&-Research-Highlights-Videos>

Emory University

The Piedmont Project emerged as a grassroots effort on the part of a group of faculty to strengthen Emory's engagement with environmental issues and

Ponderosa Project

www.greenguide.nau.edu/ponderosa.html

The Ponderosa Project at NAU is an interdisciplinary faculty effort to incorporate environmental sustainability issues into NAU courses. The Ponderosa Group ...

Sunflower Project 2.0 - Johnson County Community College

www.jccc.edu/.../projects/sunflower...

Johnson County Community College

The Sunflower Project 2.0 is a faculty award program intended to encourage and support the infusion of sustainability across the curriculum of JCCC and to ...